What is an ERP system?

ERP software creates a robust digital framework to streamline and optimise your business operations.

Leverage one ERP platform to consolidate, accelerate, and automate all core business processes.

Amplify your success with an ERP solution

When dealing with multiple disconnected systems, complexity creeps in over time. Manual, repetitive low-value tasks slow things down.

ERP software brings together finance, inventory, CRM, sales and marketing, project management, HR, and more into one platform. As a result, everyone in your organisation gains secure, role-based access to work whenever (and wherever) they need.

Why work with a local Australian NetSuite partner?

DWR builds the framework of flexible ERP technology, tailored to your needs.

The team brings together award-winning cloud ERP software, proven processes, and industry expertise. Our personalised approach supports your business goals to deliver measurable outcomes.

Over 32K customers globally have taken the next giant leap in business growth by implementing a NetSuite ERP solution. Partner with DWR's local, Australian NetSuite ERP experts to accelerate your business growth.

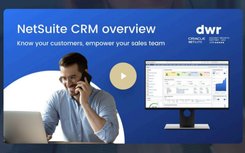
A NetSuite CRM + ERP solution delivers deeper customer insights

See the video



Less digging, more selling

How effectively are you selling to and retaining customers?

Sales teams have a lot going on. To hit targets, they need to quickly uncover new opportunities, tirelessly build relationships, and keep close track of deals to progress them.

Customer service is just as complex. You need more than spreadsheets and post-it notes to keep track of queries, updates, and challenges.

What slows teams down?

Digging for data takes time and effort.

CRM software makes it faster and easier for salespeople to sell and customer service teams to improve the customer experience.

The lead-to-loyal-customer journey

What is a CRM system?

CRM software enables you to keep track of all communications and closely nurture relationships with your leads, prospects, and customers.

There's no more digging for data in spreadsheets or single-use applications with a CRM system. You gain a single platform to manage sales processes and enhance the customer experience.

How NetSuite CRM software delivers results

A NetSuite CRM system is fully integrated within the NetSuite ERP platform to power up your entire lead-to-customer-advocate workflow. Sales, marketing, customer service, inventory, project management, and more are all brought together under one roof.

With CRM + ERP working together, you gain deeper customer behaviour insights and clarity into your most valuable lead and prospect interactions.

Stand out NetSuite CRM features

- Complete communication history, all in a place.
- Customer 360 view of AR ageing, sales and service activities and KPIs.
- Case management directly from customer records.

Know what action to take, and when

Boost customer lifetime value with every interaction

A CRM + ERP solution gives you actionable insights by analysing past sales trends and habits together with purchase and customer history data.

Get better predictions on how to sell more, to which customers, and when. Understand which leads to focus on, who to target with marketing campaigns, and which valued customers could become your next advocates.

Have value-driven conversations

CRM + ERP gives you complete transparency at every customer journey stage.

Customer service knows about sales conversations, sales can view marketing activity, and marketing understands what's selling. From lead to customer, everyone is empowered with valuable information.

Stand out NetSuite CRM features

- Selective calendar sharing.
- See marketing campaign histories on customer records.
- Fully customisable alerts and reminders.

Business Growth in 2022 with Digital Transformation

Watch the recording

What is digital transformation?

It starts by transitioning analogue data and manual processes to purely digital systems.

Then, digital processes are streamlined and automated to boost efficiency.

This builds the platform to become proactive, increase bandwidth, and reach new markets.

The role of ERP in digital transformation

An ERP system is a core business technology enabling real-time visibility, accuracy of data, and automated processes that reduce manual workload.

When implemented by experts, an ERP system like NetSuite brings:

- Live, dynamic dashboards with financial and operational snapshots that keep you informed.
- Consolidation and streamlining of all critical data with integration of any external data sources.
- Process automation that removes low-value tasks and reduces operating costs.

ERP Financial Management Software

4-min video intro

Familiar finance problems?

Your disconnected systems rely on manual rekeying of data.

Month-end takes days or weeks to run and consolidate reporting.

There's no live visibility of financial data, and it's slowing down decision-making.

Without the right financial management software, problems stack up over time. Manual workload increases as confidence in the numbers declines.

The ERP financial management solution

An ERP system is more than just financial management software. It's a core business technology. NetSuite cloud ERP consolidates live data from across the business to streamline and automate finance processes.

When implemented by experts, an ERP system enables you to:

- Know your financial position in real-time, all on one dynamic dashboard.
- Close financial periods faster with much less effort.
- Regain a strategic financial focus with less time spent on administrative tasks.

General ledger

Transform your general ledger into a dynamic business asset. Tailor GL processes to your unique business conditions. NetSuite's general ledger provides greater flexibility, visibility, and richer reporting - all with multinational financial management support.

Stand-out features include:

- Cut down account reconciliation time and effort with custom GL lines and transactions.
- Improve accuracy and save time with unlimited custom GL segments. NetSuite follows double-entry accounting principles and balances across all segment combinations.
- Multi-Book accounting removes duplicate data entry and error-prone manual adjustments when managing unique sets of books per accounting standard.

NetSuite Planning and Budgeting

Companies from all industries leverage planning and budgeting with future scenario modelling to stay ahead of the competition.

Find out how technology is helping to increase forecast accuracy and reduce the impact of supply chain disruption.

See our recorded webinar or a 90-second explainer video.

The challenge with manual planning methods

Unexpected changes and rapid shifts in product category demands can inhibit decisive action.

Often, financial planning relies on spreadsheets that reference disconnected, static financial sources - and a little guesswork.

Finance teams spend too much time on operational processes and reactive reporting.

How spreadsheets increase business risk

Complex spreadsheets introduce a range of issues such as:

- Forecasts constantly change, making static data outdated quickly.
- Significant time is spent collating, maintaining, and verifying data in spreadsheets.
- Without a deeper connection to wider business operations, spreadsheets limit your view and fail to bring meaningful predictive insights.

NetSuite's financial planning and budgeting solution

NetSuite Planning and Budgeting (NSPB) is a cloud-based financial planning and budgeting solution that automates labour-intensive processes.

NSPB is platform-agnostic. It can be used with any back-end ERP or as a standalone system.

Finance teams can rapidly produce budgets and forecasts, model "what-if" scenarios and generate live reports - all from the one flexible, scalable solution.

Gain more accurate insights, save time, and amplify your financial success.

How will you amplify success with NetSuite's planning and budgeting solution?

Collaboration

You no longer have to deal with static spreadsheets or disconnected data between departments.

With NetSuite Planning and Budgeting, everyone accesses a single, cloud-based environment.

Data management is faster and easier for all stakeholders. Finance teams can finally get meaningful input and better collaboration from business and operational managers.

Visibility

Data is entered and managed in one central system. You then work with a single, agreed-upon version of your financial and operational data.

Any changes made within the system are automatically reflected in reports and dashboards.

NetSuite Planning and Budgeting delivers a clear vision of your business position.

More benefits of planning and budgeting

- Reduce your planning cycle times with templates and workflows for ease of inputs and assumptions.
- Everyone enters data using the same process. All changes are tracked, and data is consistent. Stakeholders no longer rely on emails or spreadsheets.
- Improve your forecast accuracy by easily comparing and analysing actual versus projected results to refine your forecasts.

Use the solution with any back-end ERP system. If you're using NetSuite ERP, you'll also gain pre-built synchronisation to leverage real-time financial and operational data immediately.

Gain more accurate insights, save time, and amplify your financial success.

The problem with disconnected systems

It's common to add single-use systems as you grow - like accounting, inventory, and CRM systems.

But disconnected systems add manual, low-value workload like re-entering and re-checking static data.

Complex reporting also leaves you without confidence in your current and future business position:

Systems start slowing you down when they should be helping you grow faster.

The NetSuite ERP solution

The road to success relies on robust business software, proven processes, and industry expertise.

NetSuite is a core business technology platform that enables you to:

- Improve planning and forecasting accuracy
- Streamline operations and do more with fewer resources
- Stay ahead of trends, changes, and the competition

...and so much more. Learn how to amplify your success with a NetSuite ERP solution.
